

Inclusive Education Resources

Centre for Studies on Inclusion in Education (CSIE), 1 Redland Close, Elm Lane, Redland, Bristol BS6 6UE. Tel: 0117 923 8450. Website: <http://ep.open.ac.uk/wgma/CSIE/csiehome.html> CSIE gives information and advice about integration and related issues. It is fully committed to working towards an end to all forms of segregated education. It is an independent educational charity set up in 1982 to:

- help in the exchange of information and to promote good practice integration
- support special educational provision as part of mainstream whole school policies and integrated local education services
- encourage parent professional partnership.

Independent Panel on Special Educational Advice (IPSEA), 4 Ancient House Mews, Woodbridge, Suffolk IP2 1DH. Tel: 01394 380518/01394 382814 IPSEA is a panel of volunteers who offer expert opinions on children who are being assessed for special education. Volunteers are qualified and experienced professionals who work on behalf of parents and their children without charge or on an expenses only basis.

Network 81, 1-7 Woodfield Terrace, Stansted, Essex CM24 8AJ. Tel: 0279 647415. Fax: 0279 816438.

Network 81 is a national network of parents of children with special educational needs. Aims of Network 81 are:

- to raise awareness to the issue of integration
- to offer information, guidance, help and advice on the workings of the 1981 Education Act and other legislation and administrative practices concerned with special education provision
- to link up and support groups and individual parents of children with special educational needs
- to promote equality of opportunity in education of all children
- to encourage parents to take their rightful place in the educational policy-making process, including equal access to information
- to encourage education, health and social services to fulfil their duties and responsibilities in making provision for children with special needs and integrating them

- to promote the concept of parent-professional partnership.

Alliance for Inclusive Education, Unit 2, Ground Floor, 70 South Lambeth Road, London SW8 1RL. Tel: 0171-735 3828.

Campaigns for the right to fully supported inclusive education for all young people with disabilities or learning difficulties by:

- helping set up local action groups, to stimulate local policy and practice
- organising seminars and conferences
- offering in-service training and materials on Disability Equality for teachers, governors and parents
- researching and disseminating information on good practices in integration
- working closely with other groups and organisations who believe in the principle of an inclusive education system
- campaigning at national level.

Bolton Institute of Higher Education (BIHE), Centre for Continuing Professional Development, School of Education and Health Studies, Chadwick Street, Bolton BL2 1JW. Tel: 0204 28851 Ext: 3216. Fax: 0204 399074.

BIHE promotes inclusive education through staff development and training, consultancy, evaluations and research. In addition to teacher training courses, BIHE puts on a programme of conferences and workshops.

Centre for Integrated Education and Community 24 Thome Crescent, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M6H 2S5. Website: <http://inclusion.com>

CIEC publish a wide range of books and materials on inclusive education under Inclusion Press. Also they run workshops, conferences and seminars for parents, teachers, other educationalists and others interested in inclusive education.

17 July 1997

NWTDT Briefings are published by the North West Training & Development Team, Calderstones, Whalley, Clitheroe, BB7 9PE. ☎ 01254 821334.

They may be freely copied and distributed.

